

transparency, as it relates to the goods we produce, is very important to us.”

Today, the St. Kitts Bottling company is majority-owned by the TDC Group of Companies, one of the larger general merchandise companies on St. Kitts and Nevis, which acquired 51 percent of the company shares in 2012. But SKBC still maintains its small-business ethos. “We want people to remember us as always putting the customer first, so customer service is one of our high points. We may not have always gotten it right, but we make the effort, and so I think that we are very close to getting it right.”
